Atlantic Well Bill Is Read

When Atlantic No. 3 oil well in the Leduc-Calmair field coughed it will join an eruption last fall and by running will cause a third of the oil producing wells in the field, the ground work was laid for legislative action.

TWO BILLS READ

First step in this action was taken yesterday when a pair of bills were given first reading in the Alberta legislature.

More important of these two pieces of legislation provided for the payment of claims against the well from a fund established by the Alberta Natural Gas and Petroleum Conservation Board.

The board is authorized to set up a fund from the sale of the oil well and from the sale of the oil well and from the sale of the oil well.

February Was Fourth Coldest in City History

February was one of the coldest in Edmonton's history. Actually it was the fourth coldest February since 1881, when fairly accurate records were first kept.

Only in 1887, 1904 and 1936 was February colder than last month. This was revealed in the monthly summary released today by the department of transport.

Two below zero

February of this year had a mean temperature of two below zero, which is 13 degrees below the average for the month.

In 1887, the mean temperature was 10.5 degrees below; 1904 had 8.2 below and 1936 set an all-time record of 16.5 degrees below.

The extremely cold weather of last month was considered in the first three weeks, when the mean temperature for the period was seven below.

Precipitation and sunshine were slightly above normal, with wind slightly below normal for the month.

Coldest temperature during the month was 32.7 degrees below zero and the warmest was 47 above zero. Both are close to the normal maximum and minimum for February.

There was a total of 75 inches of snow and 129.9 inches of sunshine in the month. Both are slightly above normal for the month.

Stolen Car Ring Believed Broken

Stolen car ring operating in Alberta was believed smashed with the arrest of Norman W. Hill, Yarmouth, Sask., in Calgary yesterday.

Hill admitted in Calgary police court that he had stolen an automobile and a truck.

He also admitted theft of a Jeep from Calgary and Crown Grant in Alberta.

Details of this theft have been given to Calgary police by Hill.

His dad, James Baldwin, no fixed address, had been arrested in connection with the case.

No Suggestions Made In Gas Export Study

No recommendation on the export of natural gas from Alberta is made by the report of the Dinning Royal Commission set up last November by the provincial government to report on the reserves and consumption of the fuel from this province.

It had been expected the commissioners would take their stand as to for or against export of gas to Eastern Canada and Pacific coast.

J. J. Dinning, president of the Burns meat packing plant in Calgary and former Alberta Liquor Commission chairman, was chairman of the commission. Roy C. Marler of Edmonton, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and Prof. Andrew Stewart of the University of Alberta were members of the commission.

They were named by the government last November after appointment had been made by pipeline companies for federal investigation with a view to export of gas from Alberta to the west.

Lumbermen Ask NHA Amendments

Legislation Sought To Allow Lower-Cost Home Building

Prairie lumbermen today released specifications for a $3,300 house which they believe could be Western Canada's answer to the desperate housing need.

Conducting a directors' meeting of the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association here, they said they would continue to press for amendments to the National Housing Act which would permit construction of the low-cost homes in towns and cities.

The 22 by 22 foot frame house, with a semi-basement and seven by nine foot porch extension, contains a living room, two bedrooms and kitchen. Slight alteration of the plan would permit the porch extension to be converted to a bathroom.

Actual cost of one such house built at Eskville was $3,384.55. Hector Craig, secretary-manager of the association and spokesman of the group told The Bulletin.

The low cost house would solve the housing problem for persons in low income groups who cannot afford present cash and monthly payments under existing restrictions as to size and specifications of houses.

Change essential

"Changes in the National Housing Act are essential if these groups of Canadians are to own their own homes," Mr. Craig said.

"The lumbermen's association is pressing for these changes in the NHA. Realistic valuation of homes is pressing for long-term interest mortgages, loans up to 90 per cent of the actual valuation, and easing of NHA specifications to allow the construction of low cost homes," Mr. Craig said.

"In pressing the government to make these changes we realize that low cost homes are the objective in solving Canada's housing need."

Comfortable homes

"At present prices, warm, comfortable homes with two bedrooms, bathroom and combined living room and kitchen can be built at total cost of $3,000 to $3,500 for labor and material. The cost can be reduced by the owner doing some of the work such as painting," he explained.

Mr. Craig said the lumbermen's proposal had been submitted to Reconstruction Minister Winters a month ago, but so definite decision has been made by authorities.

Former City Trust Officer Dies At Coast

William A. Bayley, community leader and well-known trust officer here for 30 years, died in a Vancouver hospital Sunday at the age of 59.

Born near London, England, Mr. Bayley came to Canada with very young, settling first in Winnipeg. He served overseas with the Canadian artillery during the first war and later rejoined the staff of the National Trust Company. In December, 1926, he was appointed trust officer at Edmonton and became head of the department here.

Prominent in Kiwanis Club work for many years, Mr. Bayley also acted as district commissioner of Boy Scouts.

Funeral will be held in Vancouver at 3 p.m. tomorrow. He is survived by his widow, a son and two daughters.

Pussy-Willows Are Same as Pussy Cats

Dear Tawasi:

Did you know that a pussy-cat doesn't have to be a cat at all?

In spring is just around the corner, little Chief has been on the look-out for pussy-willows and told me some interesting facts about them. He says these soft silky catkins that grow on pussy-willows branches are really called pussy-cats. So next time you stare at one, don't be so surprised if it starts to purr.

Little Chief also tells me that willow plants are useful as well as pretty to look at. Indians have used the bark to make a medicine which helps cure fevers and chills. Those handsome bows and arrows are made out of straight willow and the shoots make ideal bows for the lovely Indian bows. Even the roots are used to sew together birch bark squares which form the outer coverings of the canoe.

It is a handy thing to know if you are ever caught outside at night and need a shelter, all you have to do is tie together a framework of willow twigs and cover it with bark. You can be wandering at night to try this out!

While men use willow in lots of ways, the one I like best is as a dandy whistle or fishing rod. The pussy cat. All kinds of baskets, from the one baby basket to the daisy basket, are made of willow.

My goodness, the uses for this plant never seem to end, for you can eat at the heart birds nest in the branches, and wasps get their first spring from these roots.

Have any Tawasis seen pussy-willows yet? You should be keeping a weather eye out for crocuses too, and don't forget to watch for tender coming up the south. When a thing is going to see the first robin this spring!

Little Chief would like you to meet him in and tell us how you are any sign of spring, even if it is only a popper popping his head out of the ground. Write letters to the Tawasi Club, Edmonton, Alberta, and we will send you a card.

Yours truly, Rodney Hendrickson

Manitoba Planning Increase in Pensions

WINNIPEG, March 8.—(CP)—Provided a bill now before the Manitoba legislature is passed, every old age and blind pensioner in the province who is without income will receive $35 a month in pension. The basic pension now is $30 a month.

Under the bill, the province would take $450 annually as its "ceiling" for old age and blind pensions. From this amount, it would deduct the pensioner's total income—including his pension and his outside income a year—and pay half the difference.

If a pensioner has only his pension as income, he will receive $300 annually from that source, Mr. Schull said. The province would pay half of the difference between $300 and $450—amounting to $60, or $5 a month.

If a pensioner has an annual income of $60 a year and $500 by way of pension his total income would be $450. The province would pay half the difference between $450—$50, or $5.00 a month.

Authorship Of Book Claimed

PARIS, March 7.—(UPI)—Victor Kravchenko swore "in the name of liberty and my country" today that he wrote the book, "I Chose Freedom."

WULF, Yorkshire, England, March 8.—(Reuters)—Four bullocks, wrecked a works culture near the cattle market here yesterday after climbing a 20-foot stairway to the pens.

The bullocks were rounded up by a driver who herded them backwards down the stairs.

Grain by Submarine Via Churchill Seen

WINNIPEG, March 8.—(CP)—Arctic explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins thinks submarines could be used to ship grain to Europe from the northern Manitoba port of Churchill all the year round.

Sir Hubert made the suggestion here during the week-end in an interview. The Australian-born explorer has just returned after a visit to the Churchill district as a member of the research development branch of the American military planning division.

"Submarines are definitely suitable for carrying grain cargoes and with a little further research they could travel right under the Polar icecap," he said.

"We proved that submarines could operate under the icecap back in 1931," he added, referring to an expedition in which he and several companions travelled beneath the ice in a submarine making scientific observations. Commercial use of submarines would make Churchill an active island in 1947.

Stamp Planned For Newfoundland

OTTAWA, March 8.—(CP)—A special four-cent stamp commemorating Newfoundland's entry into confederation will be issued April 1, Postmaster-General Bertrand announced yesterday. Chiropractors

Are Basis For House Debate

Chiropractors may or may not be used in the treatment of arthritis under Alberta's new legislation calling for treatment of young victims of the disease.

This was learned when the Alberta legislature was in committee yesterday considering the amendments to the Public Health Act which allows for treatment of youngsters in the province.

Mrs. C. R. Wood (C.S. Stoney Point), wanted to know if the government had considered the use of chiropractors in treatment of arthritis and had been bolstered by Mr. W. Cross, minister of health and public welfare, that the government would make use of "the most experienced man" to be suggested.

Mr. Roy Lee (S.C. Taber), objected to an increase in the estimated appropriation of $50,000 for arthritis treatment but was assured by the minister that total amount which would have been bolstered by federal government grants to nearly $150,000.

Comic Book War Gains Support From City Groups

City organizations and associations are getting behind the Edmonton Home and School Council's war against undesirable comic books.

At a meeting of the association to Public Library last night, reported by F. A. Atherton, committee chairman investigating sale and distribution here of comic books.

The questionnaire sent out more than a week ago, said various civic organizations whether they are in favor of the ISA's war on "certain salacious and undesirable comic books."

Of those returned to the Home and School Association, it indicated that groups plan to take the literature off the market.

Chairman of last night's meeting, R. G. Douglas, stated that following completion of the survey, a report of findings and recommendations will be sent to Ottawa.

More 'Phones Are Sought For Northland

Alberta's north country needs more telephone circuits to connect it with Edmonton.

This was a point insisted on by R. K. Delbert (S.S. Spirit River) in the budget debate in the Alberta legislature yesterday.

Mr. Delbert recalled there had been no telephone connection between the north country and Edmonton before 1946 when a line constructed by the American army along the southern part of the Alaska highway had been bought by the provincial telephone system.

At first, he said, service between the Peace River country and Edmonton had been good, but in the past year the two circuits connecting the capital with the north country had been frequently pulled so that it took hours to get a call through.

He asked extra circuits be set up as soon as possible along the present lines.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA

Mr. Hiley telephoned the office in a great state of excitement. It was the kind of excitement that is born of association with fiscal matters. And I guessed right.

He showed me two cheques from Ottawa for refundable savings. He blurted, "Guess how much?"

Now that's the kind of guessing game I really like to play. So much that I forgot to give him the having out the check I intended to open my personal mail.

I pretended I could never guess the amounts so I let her tell me. At a matter of fact, right away I started feeling about the meaning of the money I thought about Mr. Hiley away back in the grim war.

Remember when he was there, "Guess how much?" Canadians of all their surplus cash.

Yes sir. You after the Minsu called I was certain that Mr. Hiley was the best friend I ever had. I felt that I was right when I was writing him a letter begging his forgiveness. That's the way I felt right up to the time I sat down for supper. Then I made him the biggest debate, when he body right in my own house full as capable of "myself" than "any surplus cash."

As was ever the Hon. J. L. Hiley. The following day he told me the story. The "S" referred to being the Minsu in each case.

Mr. Hiley I can pay back the loan. She—And there'll be enough left over for my new outfit.

Me—Maybe I can manage it. She—And I should still have enough for a sewing machine. He—No, I don't think we manage that.

She—Why can't we? Don't forget I saw those cheques. I've got everything figured out. He—I guess you better take the cheques. They're good at handling money.

She—And there'll be enough left over for my new outfit. Me—Maybe I can manage it. She—And I should still have enough for a sewing machine. He—No, I don't think we manage that.

What is that they say about all the bad food that's getting? Certainly a cheque in the hand is worth two in the hands of the Minsu.

Footnote to the gang: That little game I played you about yesterday's meeting. Not only were the cheques in the hand, so was the spending of the refund.

City Butter Prices Firm Despite Drop

East Markets Show Decline Up to 7 Cents

Butter prices dropped and sales fell off in several Canadian cities yesterday. Some wholesale dealers blamed competition from margarine, now plentiful in most places. Others said it was the law of supply and demand—retailers had ample stocks of butter and the market was "dead."

However the 71-cent-a-pound price in Edmonton held firm with no sign of any drop for at least two days.

In Toronto, the drop ranged from one to 1 1/2 cents a pound. No. 1 butter sold at 41 cents were one cent lower than a week ago. No. 2 sold at 40 cents were down seven cents. In prints, No. 1 was down 1 1/2 cents at 60, No. 2 down 7 1/2 cents at 62.

The Montreal commodity exchange reported the first slump since a ceiling was re-imposed on butter prices last March. Butter was offered at 68 cents a pound, 1 cent below the ceiling. March futures were offered at 68 cents.

The Montreal commodity exchange reported the first slump since a ceiling was re-imposed on butter prices last March. Butter was offered at 68 cents a pound, 1 cent below the ceiling. March futures were offered at 68 cents.

Three Saskatchewan towns—Regina, Yorkton and Swift Current—reported declines of three cents a pound in prices for first-grade butter. At Halifax, prices were steady but grossed sold sales had fallen off since marginator first gave its guarantee a month ago.

Butter offerings poured into Montreal from Toronto and Quebec, contributing to a unsettled trading. In Quebec, where a shortage in the market, demand has remained steady.

In Toronto, one wholesaler said it was "no doubt" increasing numbers of consumers are buying margarine which sells about 60 cents a pound.

ISSUE WARNING
The Ontario agriculture department is warning farmers to be quick to make every effort to improve the quality of their product. A spokesman said "first-grade butter" has been the only butter in demand in the last month.

Cream prices followed butter downwards. In Toronto it dropped 1/2 cent to 60 cents for 100 lbs. delivered. Saskatchewan reported a three-cent drop in cream prices.

Water Hinders Barreel Test

By Don Flach
Barreel No. 1 has now set 176 feet of 5-inch liner with the bottom at 4126 feet in an effort to cut off water that has been entering the oil flow. The liner will probably be perforated today for further testing of the Madison limestone. The formation gave a good flow of oil and gas in previous tests. The liner is intended to cut off the water flow from the bottom of the pay zone and the gas from the top.

Leduc Kalbar, which gave good prospects a week ago is coming at 5.300 feet.

BEAR DRILLING FOUR
Near Oil No. 1 is now drilling on the well which was drilled to 2777 feet. The well is being drilled at 1410 and 1420 feet.

A new Alberta independent, Leduc Kalbar, has been organized and is the first venture to be set up in the province. It is being set up in the township 54 range 26 east of the fourth meridian. This township surrounds the village of St. Albert.

This numbering system has been employed with success in many U.S. oil fields.
